REMARKABLE MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Eighty Seven Year Old Citizen of Gettysburg who Formerly Conducted Overland Route between Graeffenburg and Baltimore.

After an illness of less than an hour John McKenrick, of Chambersburg street, died suddenly this morning between five and six o'clock at the home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rose McKenrick, with whom he made his home for the past thirty years. Had Mr. McKenrick lived until December 27 he would have celebrated his eighty eighth birthday.

In spite of his advanced years, he was a man of excellent health and vigor and did much of the work about the house which required hard manual labor. It was not a difficult task for him to chop the wood and do other things that would ordinarily fatigue a man twenty years his junior. He was well as usual on Wednesday and it was not until about half past four this morning that he complained of not feeling well.

Then he called his daughter-in-law and said that he was sick. She suggested sending for a physician but he insisted that he would be better in a few minutes. He sank rapidly however, and death occurred about half past five o'clock.

Mr. McKenrick was born in Buchanan Valley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McKenrick, and lived in that part of the county until seven years ago when he moved with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rose McKenrick, to the Greenleaf farm, near Gettysburg. They moved into Gettysburg about three years later. For a number of years before the days of the railroad, he hauled lumber and flour between Graeffenburg and Baltimore.

He was married to Miss Mary Strasbaugh, who died in 1886. The following children are living, John McKenrick, of Waynesboro; David McKenrick, Buchanan Valley; Mrs. V. McKinley, and Mrs. George Bascett, both of Chicago. He also leaves one brother, James McKenrick, of Clearfield County.

Funeral on Monday morning, meeting at the house at eight o'clock. The services will proceed from there to Buchanan Valley where services will be held in St. Ignatius' church, conducted by Rev. P. F. Sullivan.

MISS ALICE VAN SCOYOC

Miss Alice Van Scoyoc died about seven o'clock this morning at her home in Latimore township, near York Springs, from Bright's disease. She was aged 57 years.

Miss Van Scoyoc was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Moses Van Scoyoc. She leaves three brothers and a sister, Mrs. H. E. Trostle, Harrisburg; Mrs. Weidner, Pottstown; Mrs. Eby, Manheim; and William Van Scoyoc, Latimore township, with whom she lived.

The funeral will be held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon from her late home.

MILES N. SCHUHART

Niles Newman Schuhart, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schuhart, of near Edge Grove, died Tuesday morning after a short illness, aged 3 months and 17 days.

Besides his parents he leaves one sister and two brothers; Musetta, Adrian and Marcellus, at home.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from Conewago Chapel at two o'clock, Rev. Charles Koch, officiating.

FRANK H. POHLMAN

Frank H. Pohlman died at noon Wednesday at his home in Mt. Pleasant township after a brief illness from complications. He was about 65 years of age.

He leaves his wife and three sons, Joseph, Michael, and Eugene Pohlman, all of Mt. Pleasant township.

ELECTRICITY FOR FARMERS' HOMES

Fruit Growers Plan to Have their Houses Equipped with Electric Lights. Four Mile Line is Project now under way.

In order that a number of the residents of the western fruit belt section of Adams County may be furnished with electric lights and in this way add to the modern conveniences with which their homes are equipped, a project is under way to connect that region with the light plant at Orrtanna. The distance from the plant to the farthest house on the proposed line is about four miles.

To take the preliminary steps to the matter a meeting of the fruit growers and farmers living in the general vicinity of Mt. Carmel Church and nearby was held last evening at the home of William R. Cation. A goodly number were present and formed a temporary organization with George C. Strong as president, and Mr. Cation as secretary.

Two representatives of the Bell Telephone Company, Mr. Overpeck and Mr. Wallick, were present and went over the question of connecting the mountain section with the Bell exchange at Fairfield, through Orrtanna. The men who are urging the light project favor the telephone plan, it is understood, and will allow the light company use of their poles.

The light plant at Orrtanna has been in operation for several months and is now serving several towns in the western part of the county in a way that is highly satisfactory to all concerned. The mountain residents do not wish to be outdone by their town friends and will, from present indications, soon have the convenience in their homes. It will require about eight and one half miles of wire to accommodate them as not all the members live along the main road.

The present plan is to follow the Mt. Carmel road past the Linn place, and then on up past the Mt. Carmel church to the fruit farms that are being operated by a number of the residents who have lived in that section for some years, and also by others who have been residents for a comparatively short time. Another meeting will be held next week when reports will be heard from the committees appointed last night to confer with the managers of the light plant, to secure the poles, and make whatever other plans are necessary at this time.

THREE CASES

Blood Poison Assumes Serious Aspect for County Sufferers.

Nevin Shank, blacksmith at New Chester, is suffering from blood poison. Recently one of the fingers of his left hand was slightly injured in some manner and little was thought of the matter until last week, when the wound became infected, and is now causing him much pain. The hand has been lanced several times, but the disease does not yield very rapidly to treatment.

George Fitzgerald, of the same place, is also a sufferer from blood poison, the result of picking a pimple on his right hand. Both are under the care of a physician.

Joseph Hippensteel, of near New Chester, who has been suffering from blood poison on his right hand, resulting from a cut while butchering, is not improving very rapidly.

PLAN SERIES OF TOURIST PARTIES

Gettysburg Selected as Place for Trial Trip to Test out Popularity of American Tours. Wealthy Germans here.

Taking Gettysburg as their first point of activity the Althouse Tourist Agency, 56 Philadelphia, brought a party of prominent Quaker City residents here Wednesday afternoon for a three day stay. The tour is in the nature of an experiment and, if successful, will be followed, it is expected, by many others of like character early in the spring and throughout next summer.

The party which arrived here on Wednesday came in a special private Pullman and the return will be made in a similar manner, Harrisburg being a stop-off point on the way home. The people taking this trip are all wealthy Germans, of Philadelphia, and they are now registered at Hotel Gettysburg.

The Althouse tours have for many years been confined entirely to foreign travel but the war has closed this avenue of business and the management, in casting about for some other point of interest to which they might take their patrons, hit upon Gettysburg. There is a demand for late autumn trips and the tourist party now here was booked within forty eight hours of the time it was first called for.

From the manner in which the people taking the present tour are expressing their delight with Gettysburg and the conduct of the outing, it is safe to predict that the Althouse management will arrange a number of similar parties for early in the spring and possibly more for this fall, if there is any demand.

In every instance the tourists will be brought in Pullmans and Emil T. Behre, special agent with the party, expects to bring solid trains of Pullmans if the demand warrants. He also proposes, with the opening of the spring and summer season next year, to include the Blue Ridge and Washington in the trips much after the manner of the New England and Pennsylvania Railroad tours which have been coming here for some years.

MOTORISTS MUST HEED WARNINGS

Will not Tolerate Reckless Driving on State and Borough Highways. Prompt and Effective Action against All Offenders.

State Highway Commissioner Cunningham is receiving hearty cooperation in his efforts to enforce the provisions of the automobile law.

"The sooner that automobile owners and operators realize that the department is determined to enforce the law rigorously the better it will be for all concerned," said State Highway Commissioner Cunningham. "While the State Highway Department is not going to persecute any owner or anyone running an automobile, we intend that the provisions of this act shall be obeyed.

"Cases of persons operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated where the facts are proved and where the punishment is inflicted by a court of record are being handled by the revocation of licenses after a hearing as required by law. We intend to be equally severe with cases of reckless driving and with autoists who persistently operate with one tag, or without any tags, after having been warned that they are violating the law.

"It may seem to some that we are unduly severe, but I am convinced that the only way to compel the enforcement of the law is to make an example of those who persist in violating it.

"We feel that we are making the roads safe for everyone when we withhold the privilege of using them from the man who has demonstrated that he does not have the proper regard for the safety and rights of others."

The Camp Fire Girls will wear their ceremonial gowns and the Boy Scouts will be in full uniform. Mr. and Mrs. Keller were so much gratified with the sympathy shown them at the time of their son's death that they expressed a desire to meet the boys and girls belonging to the organizations in which he was so much interested.

ANCONA'S DEAD MAY REACH 300

Victims of Submarine Mostly Women and Children.

SHIP RIDDLED WITH SHELLS

American Consul Reports Incident and Says Warship is Waiting Outside Harbor to Seize Vessel.

London, Nov. 11.—The first list available of the passengers on the Italian steamship Ancona, sunk by an Austrian submarine in the Mediterranean sea, off the African coast, near Bizerta, contains the names of twenty-seven Americans, according to a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Rome.

One American woman is among the survivors, it is stated. It is believed nearly 300 persons went down with the vessel.

Only meagre particulars of the disaster have yet reached the public, owing to the strictness of Italian censorship, but a despatch from Bizerta to Lloyds says that 300 persons were drowned. Most of the lost, the message says, were women and children emigrants. One hundred and thirty survivors have thus far reached Bizerta.

Two of the Ancona's boats with fifty-four members of the crew, landed near Cape Bon, Tunisia. Some of the women were injured.

In addition to fifty-one members of the crew and four passengers of the Ancona, picked up at sea, have been landed at Malta.

There is a discrepancy as to the number of persons saved. Earlier advice had given 270 as the number. The total number of persons on board the Ancona is said to have been 302. If 270 survivors are, in fact, at Bizerta, the total accounted for reaches 369, leaving 273 missing.

From the few details received, it is believed that the Ancona sustained a vigorous shell fire from the submarine that attacked her and that several persons were killed and injured in this way before the vessel went down. A despatch from the Stefani News agency of Rome, says that 190 shells were fired into the Ancona before she was torpedoed.

Berlin has evidently received particulars of the battle, for a despatch from that city says: "Information from a reliable source is that the steamship Ancona was sunk by an Austro-Hungarian submarine." The Overseas News agency reports: "She attempted to escape, and thus compelled the submarine to use her guns." The assertion is made by survivors of the Ancona, according to reports, which reached Rome, that the submarine which sank the steamship was German, although flying the Austrian colors. This has not been confirmed officially.

A despatch from Naples says that the first-class passengers on board the Ancona include Mrs. Prof. Cécile L. Grell, of New York, and the third class, Alessandro Polivato, of New York, and wife and four children, and Mrs. Francesco Mascole Lamura, all American citizens.

Prince Casiano Zundica was also aboard the Ancona.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMANS

Tauntens Gain Trench, But Are Driven Out by Counter Attack.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The German forces which hold the summit of the Butte de Tahure, in Champagne, attempted to drive the French from their positions on the slopes of the height.

Two assaults were made in succession by the Germans. The first broke down under the French fire before the French trenches were reached. The second was more successful and the Germans gained a foothold at one point, only to be driven out again by an immediate counter attack. The attack was preceded by a new bombardment of the French positions at this point, to which the French guns replied effectively.

The German infantry made an attack on the western edge of the Givancy forest, but were held in check by the French fire. The fighting with bombs and hand grenades continued to the east of the Argonne.

Beheaded Children Found

Grafton, W. Va., Nov. 11.—The bodies of four children of C. E. Hunt, a miner, were recovered from the ruins of their home, destroyed by fire while their parents and two other children were absent at Hiorra, a small town near which they live twenty miles from here. Three of the bodies were headless, leading the authorities to search the vicinity on the theory that the children had been murdered and the house set on fire.

SINKING OF ANCONA AROUSSES CAPITAL

Government Awaits Advice as to Fate of Americans.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Secretary of State Lansing indicated the United States would wait a reasonable time for an official report on the sinking of the Ancona, but that if official word is not received then, the department will inquire into the affair through the embassy at Rome.

Department officials said they had made no request of American Ambassador Page or of any consular officers. They explained that as a matter of duty the nearest American consular officer to Bizerta would make a report, especially if any American lives were lost.

Dean E. Mason, consul at Algiers, Algeria, about three hundred miles east of Bizerta, is the nearest American officer. He probably would go to Bizerta to make an investigation, should he learn that American lives were lost.

Should it develop that Americans aboard lost their lives and that the liner was torpedoed without warning, the American government probably would demand of the Austrian government disavowal of the act, reparation and assurances that there will be no repetition.

Before making any comment, officials awaited information on two points—whether the vessel was torpedoed without warning and whether any Americans were among the victims.

Should it develop that the liner was warned and ignored it and attempted to escape the rules of naval warfare, according to the Washington government's view, justified the use of force. If she was attacked without warning, and a case parallel to that of the Lusitania develops, the attitude of the United States probably will be along the lines already followed with Germany.

NEW RUSSIAN DRIVE

German Invaders Give Ground Before
Terrific Onslaught.

Petrograd, Nov. 11.—The Russian offensive on the Courland battle front continues to force back the German armies under Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

The official statement issued last night by the Russian war office tells of much progress made in that region, as well as in the sector to the south and west of Dvinsk, where the Germans have lost some positions.

Berlin Claims Victories

Allies Will Make Loan to Greece

London, Nov. 11.—That a loan by the allies to Greece has been arranged was definitely announced. Its effect, it is believed, will tend to cement the sentiment friendly to the entente already expressed in behalf of the new cabinet by Premier Skoufoudis, and by showing the confidence of the allies in Greece to do more than others of territory or other inducements to quicken that country's benevolent inclination into positive action.

Husband is Negro; Asks Divorce

Washington, Nov. 11.—Shortly before the birth of their son, in October, 1913, Mrs. John Linney, discovered that her husband was a negro and that he had deceived her when they were married, she said in court here, in asking for separate support. Linney is said to be wealthy. She and her son have been ostracized by relatives and friends. Mrs. Linney said:

MILLIONS LOST IN BETHLEHEM FIRE

Machinery and 800 Guns Destroyed at Schwab Plant.

SHORT CIRCUIT THE CAUSE

Blaze in Machine Shop Originated in Oil Conduit and Spread Rapidly—
Men Escape on Ropes.

South Bethlehem, Nov. 11.—Fire destroyed machine shop No. 4 of the Bethlehem Steel company plant. Only the skeleton of the big building is standing. Machinery and war material in the building were valued at $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

The company issued a statement saying the blaze was due to a crossed circuit wire which ignited oil in the boring mill, on the first floor. No statement of damage has been issued by the company. The destroyed building was recently rebuilt.

The fire spread rapidly and the building was soon wrapped in flames. The fire department of the steel works was called out, as were the departments of four neighboring boroughs, but their efforts were mainly expended with a view to saving adjoining buildings.

In machine shop No. 4 were manufactured guns of various calibre. In the building when the fire started were 800 guns, about 150 of them ready to ship. Some of these cannon were for England and her allies, others for this government.

The value of these guns alone is said to have been several million dollars. There were about 100 machines of different kinds in the building—lathes, shapers, drills and boring machines. These machines were valued from $400 up to several thousand dollars each.

The building was about 250 feet wide and 700 feet long, and four stories high. On these four floors were employed 2000 men on both day and night shifts. About 500 men were working when the fire broke out, and so rapidly did it spread that some employees had to make their escape by means of ropes from the different windows.

From workmen it has been learned that the fire started among oil near the entrance to the plant. This oil flows in conduits and is used to gather up flying chips which escape in the operation of gun boring. There was only a brief flare of fire at first, which workmen foolishly attempted to put out by throwing on water. There followed a mighty flash and flames leaped as high as the building, enveloping completely the whole of the structure.

General alarms were sounded, not only in the steel works, but throughout the neighboring boroughs of South Bethlehem, Bethlehem, Pottsville Hill and Northampton Heights. In a short time East Third street was crowded with fire engines, which pumped millions of gallons of water through two score lines of hose.

The fire, starting on the south portion, soon ate its way through the building to the north side. Floor after floor, each loaded down with valuable machinery, collapsed and fell to the first floor, where it lay in a jumbled mass.

Many of the 2000 employees lost all their tools, several having as much as $100 worth. All the men will be given employment elsewhere in the plant.

Senator Favors World's Largest Navy for United States.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Forty-eight dreadnoughts, one bearing the name of each state, reorganization of the army and pay for the National Guards were ideas advocated by Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, before the seventeenth annual convention of the National Guard Association of the United States.

"We want a navy, perhaps second to that of England," he said, "but I myself favor having the greatest navy in the world. We ought to begin by having a dreadnought for each of the forty-eight states of the Union."

"It is the duty of congress to provide for the creation of a reserve force and an increase of the regular army and commissioned officers." Senator Penrose said he would oppose any proposal which did not recognize the National Guard.

Krupp Profits for Charity

Berlin, Nov. 11.—Although the profits of the Krupp works last year, amounting to $6,000,000 marks ($21,500,000), would permit of payment of twenty-four per cent dividend, the owners will make no extra profits on account of the war. After payment of a dividend of twelve per cent, the amount distributed last year, a surplus of about 24,000,000 marks will be devoted to charity. To the relief fund for families of soldiers killed in battle 20,000,000 will be given, and 3,700,000 marks will go to the general relief fund.

Gets Year for Carrying Billy

FRENCH TAKE VELES; BRITISH ROUT Foe

Two Important Victories For Allies in Macedonia.

London, Nov. 11.—French forces have recaptured the town of Veles, in southern Serbia, from the Bulgarians, according to advices received by the Serbian legation in Athens from Gueyghell, forwarded by the Stars correspondent in Athens.

The first important victory claimed for the British forces in Serbia was announced in a despatch from Salonika. It stated that the English troops, heavily reinforced, had engaged the Bulgarian on the shore of Lake Doiran, just north of the Greek frontier, and inflicted a decisive defeat. The Bulgarians retreated and the British troops occupied their positions, gaining a large extent of territory upon the Serbo-Bulgarian line.

While the news from the south grows steadily more encouraging, the situation in the north is very unfavorable for the allies. All of the important railway lines through Nish that remain in Serbian hands is a small sector near Alekzinac, north of Nish, and this is doubly threatened by the Bulgarian advance to the Morava river and the continued southward drive of the German forces from Krushevat, both converging upon Aleksinac, where it seems likely that a junction will soon be effected. South of Nish the railway is undoubtedly in the hands of the Bulgarians as far as Veles, since Leskovatz has been recently taken by them.

Bulgars Claim Big Victory

Berlin, Nov. 11.—A defeat for the French and British troops in southern Serbia, with losses which are described as enormous, is reported in a despatch from Sofia by way of Budapest.

According to this information, the battle occurred between Krivolak and Prilip. The allies made a violent attack upon defensive positions of the Bulgarians.

In addition to heavy losses in killed or wounded of the allies, it is reported, a large number of their troops were captured.

Delaware Farmer Killed by Train

Dover, Del., Nov. 11.—Stephen Porter, a farmer, whose home is near Harrington, was struck by the south-bound Norfolk express train at the Centre street crossing in Harrington, Del., and was killed. The wagon in which he was riding was demolished.

PARISIENNE IS SHOT AS A TRAITOR; BETRAYS HER

Woman Gives Up Wealthy
Husband to Die In Disgrace With Her Austrian Sweetheart, a Spy.

AS A TRAITOR; COUNTRY FOR LOVE

Husband, Fighting For France,
Killed at the Front and Never Knew the Fate of His Untrue Wife.

THIS is the story of a young Frenchwoman who was executed by the French military authorities in Bellegarde, the little Franco-Swiss frontier village, writes Herman Bernstein, editor of the Day of New York.

This war has produced numerous instances of inhuman brutality, of heroism, of self sacrifice and romance, but the circumstances surrounding the fate of this young woman will rank among the most tragic and pathetic "human documents" of the war. It is the story of a woman who died for love. To help her lover she committed high treason and paid with her life for it.

Women have figured prominently as spies in every war. In this war their role also has been conspicuous. Some have betrayed their country for money, others have betrayed it for the love of adventure, and still others have betrayed it for the sake of love, following blindly the men who led them astray along the fascinating and dangerous path of crime. This young woman was a victim of love.

Her Fate Kept Secret.

Not a word has been written about her death—not a sigh, not a tear, not a prayer from her friends and relatives, for they did not know what had become of her. The French newspapers did not record the end of this woman who paid with her life for her darling, mad desire to help her Austrian lover, who sought to secure French military secrets.

Her name was Susanne Raynal. She was the wife of Louis Raynal, a lieutenant in the artillery of the French army. She was twenty-eight years old when she was put to death. The husband, twelve years her senior, was at the front when she was shot. Her lover was shot with her. He broke down, quivering and crying hysterically, while she kept bracing him up, repeating: "Have no fear! Have no fear!"

She begged the officers to have them shot together, not separately. She declined to be blindfolded, held her lover by the hand and kept murmuring: "Have no fear! Have no fear!"

There were no prayers. No priest was allowed to administer to them the last rites. Within one hour after they had been trapped by the military authorities at the frontier they were shot. The victim of love faced death with a strange spirit of bravado, with peculiar courage, while the man whispered and cried and begged for mercy.

Diplomat Describes Carl.

Several weeks ago I met in Paris a distinguished French diplomatist with whom I discussed many incidents of the war. Our conversation turned to the many varieties of spies and provocateurs and to the motives that prompted them to betray their country. Then he told me the story of this young woman who met her end so bravely at the French-Swiss frontier.

"It was returning from London to Paris a few weeks ago," he said. "Just as we were reaching Boulogne on the boat crossing the channel while I was in line in the dining room of the boat, where the passports were being examined by the military officers, I heard behind me a familiar voice whispering in German, 'Fluechte dich nicht' (Don't be afraid)."

"I turned and saw the wife of my friend, a French lieutenant, who was at the front. She felt somewhat embarrassed when she noticed me, but immediately advanced toward me and introduced to me a tall young man of rather anti-athletic appearance.

"This is my husband's friend," she said to me. "He was kind enough to help me arrange my business affairs in London. Louis is at the front."

"In the meantime my turn came to present my passport. Our conversation was interrupted. I saw that she handed her French passport to the officer, and the young man showed his documents. I noticed that he was pale and nervous.

"In the train we met again in the dining car. They seated themselves opposite me, and from the way she acted I knew that she was in love with that man. He was tall, thin and repulsive. Her husband was brilliant, handsome and wealthy. I recalled her comfortable, beautiful home in Paris.

Conversation In German.

"During our conversation she made several remarks to the young man in German, apparently under the impression that I did not understand that language. Upon our arrival in Paris she asked me to visit her soon. She said she wanted me to advise her in a certain important matter; that she was alone now; that I could help her with letters of introduction for which she would be most grateful. She urged me to visit her the following evening. I promised to call on her and bade her farewell.

"On the following evening when I went to her house her maid met me at the door and said that Madame was expecting me for dinner an hour later. I asked her to tell Mme. Raynal that I had another engagement for dinner, and "A few minutes later Mme. Raynal came out.

"As I mentioned before, she was a beautiful young woman of about twenty-eight. She was most charmingly dressed. She greeted me warmly and begged me to stay for dinner. I told her I had another important engagement. She implored me to stay. She said she was alone and that she wished to talk with me about a matter of great importance in which she desired to enlist my aid. I said that I would call on her some other evening. Then she told me she wished to visit friends in Switzerland, that she had some manuscripts of a literary character she wanted to take to them and that she wished me to give her letters of introduction to several people, among them the minister of war. I promised to call on her the following evening.

Watched by Secret Police.

"As I bade her good night she kissed me and begged me to break my other engagement and take dinner with her. I repeated that it was impossible. Then I left her. As I walked down the stairs I noticed the tall young man I had met with her at Boulogne going up in the elevator to her apartment. That seemed more than strange to me.

"It seemed to me a prearranged affair," he went on after a pause. "The next morning I chanced to be lunching in a cafe where I occasionally met my friend, the head of the secret police department. In the course of my conversation I told the peculiar story of the woman and the young man without mentioning her name. The police chief listened intently and then said: 'I think I know the woman. We are watching her. We are also watching the man closely. He is an Austrian. They seem to be engaged in a serious political conspiracy.'"

"He mentioned her name to me and asked me whether that was the woman I had in mind. I told him it was. 'I did not call on her the following evening,' in fact, I never saw her again."

"About two weeks later I met the head of the secret police department in the same cafe. He said to me, 'Do you know what has happened to that woman—Susanne Raynal?'

"I haven't seen her since then," I replied.

You'll Never See Her Again.

"You will never see her again," he said. "She has been shot."

"And then he told me how the police had shadowed her and her lover; how some one who had made her acquaintance recently gave her a letter of introduction to the minister of war. She wanted to help the Austrian carry certain documents out of France and wished to get a special letter from the minister of war permitting her to take what she called 'manuscript' to her friends in Switzerland."

"She came to the ministry of war with her lover. They were taken to a room, where they met an officer who told her that he would be glad to arrange the matter for her. Then the police did what is usually done in such cases. The officer walked out of the room for a short time, leaving on the table near them a number of important looking documents. The man took some of these documents, and after the officer had returned and had given them the letter they asked for they went away."

"On the following day they reached Bellegarde, on the Franco-Swiss frontier. They were searched, and the papers taken from the war department were found on the woman. Within one hour both were shot. She met her death bravely. She held the man by the hand and tried to brace him up. He was crying helplessly and hysterically."

"I cannot forgive myself for having mentioned the incident to the police chief," concluded the French diplomatist. "Nor can I forgive myself for not having made an effort to see her again in order to warn her. Perhaps she might have been saved. The act of the police department was, after all, a piece of provocation."

"But I realize that she was so blinded by her love for this man, for this repulsive man, that nothing could have stopped her from doing what he wanted her to do. It is the eternal enigma, this love of a beautiful woman for a repulsive man. This seemed all the more strange to me, since I knew her husband, a handsome, brilliant and splendid man. They had been married only five years."

"Very few people know of the execution. Her husband, who was fighting at the front, knew nothing of the terrible end of his wife."

"A few days ago I received information that Lieutenant Louis Raynal, the husband of the woman who was executed in Bellegarde, fell on the battlefield recently. He passed away without learning of the tragedy that had befallen his home."

"He died in defense of his fatherland, which his wife, through her blind love for a spy, had endeavored to betray. Perhaps as he was dying his words his last thoughts and prayers were for his home and for his wife."

The Netherlands.

The kingdom of the Netherlands dates back to 1815, when the congress of Vienna granted its national independence under the rule of the House of Orange. At that time the provinces known as the Austrian Netherlands were united to Holland, but there was little sympathy of nationality, religion or racial inheritance between the two sections of the newly formed kingdom.

Hair Singed by Lightning.

A remarkable escape was experienced recently by a young man in Strlingshire, Scotland. He chanced to be out on a moor in the Killern district during a thunderstorm. He was bareheaded, and during the heavy rainfall his hair got soaked. While crossing the moor his hair was badly singed by a flash of lightning, but otherwise he escaped injury.

Music an Aid to Surgery.

A Chicago surgeon finds that music in the operating room is of great assistance in putting nervous patients into a calm, peaceful frame of mind before going under the knife. While a patient's favorite song is being played or sung, he or she will, this surgeon says, drift more readily under the influence of the anesthetic.

Had the Proper Name.

"Why do you call 'em fountain pens?" I should say reservoir pen would be the better name. A reservoir contains liquids; a fountain throws 'em around." "I think fountain pen is the proper name," said the party of the second part.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Ideal Metal for Yachts.

Monel metal, an alloy resembling nickel, will probably replace steel and bronze for the construction of yachts. It is tougher than nickel steel, does not corrode, and retains its brightness. Aluminum, the lightest of yacht plates, lasts only a short time in contact with salt water.

Inherited Qualities.

Science has proved to us beyond a doubt that long before men and women lived in homes and even huts they lived in the branches of trees. The strength found in a new born baby's hands and fingers is an inheritance of prehistoric ages, when children and grown-ups alike spent much of their leisure by day and lived at night in the branches of trees.

INSTITUTE, MONDAY NIGHT

THE AMERICAN GIRLS.

This company is so well named that the reader can get a reasonably clear idea of its character by taking into account the many charming things about a truly typical American girl as we have known her in history since the time of the discovery of the American continent and as we have known her in our own day.

The types referred to are the Indian maiden, the Puritan or Quaker girl, the Colonial miss, the hoopskirt girl, the basque style girl and the modern girl.

The idea is to show, not a cheap comedy, but a fine example of American girlhood.

Music is a prominent feature of the American Girls' program, a new sort of music in its arrangement and presentation. It will be a historical number showing glimpses of American girl life and bringing out in prominent view the part she has played in American historical events and the social life of a nation.

There will be instrumental and vocal solos, orchestral numbers and readings, all of which will be more or less descriptive of the periods represented.

A sketch will be built around the story of the making of the American flag and other events in history in which the American girl has played a conspicuous part.

These instruments will be used: The piano, clarinet, cornet, drums, violin, cello and saxophone.

Prof. H. Milton Roth, county superintendent is fortunate in having secured this company for the opening number of Institute Week's evening entertainments and he is sure to have a large audience the first night.—advertisement

The Hunting Season

This is the "hunting season" in more ways than those marked by the bang of the gun.

It is the season when we are on the hunt for new attire, for new things for the home, and for many necessities for personal comfort.

It is a sort of prelude to what might be called the "dress-up" season of the year.

It is a season when the stores are at their best and when the advertising like The Times are bursting with human interest.

EXPORTS AVERAGE $1,000,000 A DAY

$100,000,000 Worth of Horses
Have Been Shipped to Europe.

COAL $30 A TON IN ITALY.

Tremendous Shipments of This Commodity Have Recently Gone Forth. Trade With the Orient Growing. Figures Show Increase in Value Over Previous Year.

The exports of war materials from the United States now average more than $1,000,000 a day, according to statistics compiled in New York. From that port alone the exports for the full month of September included $6,500,000 worth of gunpowder, over $3,000,000 worth of shells and other explosive projectiles, $1,250,000 worth of cartridges, over $6,000,000 worth of auto trucks, nearly $1,000,000 worth of aeroplanes and millions of dollars' worth of other goods which will be of use to the allies.

These figures serve to give somewhat of an idea of what the real war order business in this country is and what a tremendous quantity of contraband of war the United States is exporting for the use of the allies. Practically all of the above goods went to Great Britain, France and Russia. Of nearly $2,000,000 worth of loaded shells sent out in September from the port of New York practically all went to Great Britain.

The exports of horses alone since the beginning of the war aggregate $100,000,000 in value, the number sent to Europe being a little less than 500,000. It is estimated that the number of mules exported during that period was 100,000 and that their value was close to $25,000,000. The exports of horses and mules have reduced the supply in the United States by about 2 per cent.

Coal $30 a Ton in Italy.

Another interesting fact which the figures show is that coal is selling at $30 a ton in Italy, a fact which lends considerable interest when it is realized that the United States is shipping more coal to Italy than to any other country except Canada. The quantity of coal shipped from the United States to Italy in the eight months ended August, 1915, was 2,039,945 tons and in the single month of August 382,154 tons. The quantity exported to Italy during those first eight months of 1915 was more than the entire quantity exported to that country in the eight years prior to 1915.

The war is opening a wide field for American exports to the Orient. This is shown by the fact that our exports to Asia during the eight months of this year amount with August were 20 per cent greater than in the same months of 1914, and the shipments in August alone to Asia were three times as great as in the corresponding month a year ago. The exports to Oceania show an increase of 25 per cent for the eight months over the previous corresponding period.

The statistics compiled show that the total exports for the week ended Oct. 23, 1915, from the port of New York amounted to $37,500,000 and for the corresponding week in 1914 $21,397,327. Austria-Hungary and Germany received no goods from this port during that period, while in the same period in 1914 the former took $210,174 in merchandise and the latter $2,486,563. The falling off in the exports to these two countries is, however, made up by those to the neutral and allied countries. For the week ended Oct. 23, 1915, $10,000,000 was exported to France against $1,957,552 the year previous. Belgium took $1,008,819 of our goods against $223,050 for the same period in 1914. The exports of the port of New York to Italy increased from $2,067,750 for the week ended Oct. 23, 1914, to $5,492,728. Russia took $5,209,052 of our goods against $861,734 a year ago. The largest increase of all in exports, however, was that made during the week of Oct. 23, 1915, to England, amounting to $24,206,218 against $7,941,791 for the same week in 1914.

Big Increases Shown.

Some of the increases in exports are so phenomenal as to justify the giving of a table showing the values of the amounts exported from New York for the week ended Oct. 23, 1915, against that of Oct. 23, 1914, as follows:

Matter of Speech.

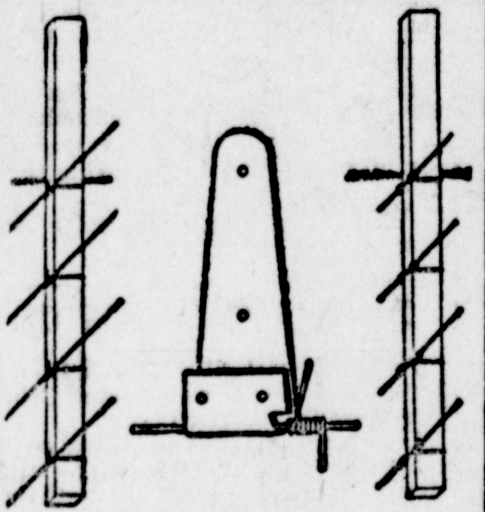

As a rule the native of a country will naturally speak his own language better than a foreigner of equal standing. Of course, very few of us speak our own language perfectly, but still fewer speak perfectly any language besides their own. It is true that our characteristic careless habits of speech make the English of an educated foreigner more careful than that of the average American, if not more perfect.

WAY TO FASTEN WIRE FENCE

It Is Not Desirable to Place Staples or Hoops in Green Concrete—Simple Plan Is Described.

There are numerous methods of attaching wire fencing to concrete posts. Some makers place staples or wire loops in the green concrete; others make holes in the posts. The former method is not desirable because the fastener cannot be located exactly where the wire of the fencing will come when the post is set in the ground; then, too, the fastener will eventually rust or break off and will thus injure the looks of the post. On the other hand, holes through the posts weaken them, and therefore this method is, in general, unsatisfactory.

The simplest, easiest, and cheapest way of fastening a wire fence to a concrete post is by encircling the post with a wire one size less than the corresponding wire in the fence proper and by twisting this wire around the strand of the fence. This is done in two ways. The fastening wire is placed around the post, twisted upon itself and then to the fence wire; or one end of the fastening wire is twisted around the fence wire, and the free end is then carried around the post and twisted on the other side to the same wire. Either plan is good, but care must be taken to draw the fastening wire tight, or else stock trying to get through the fence may raise or crush down the fencing with their heads. If any trouble is experienced, the post should be roughened at the fastening point with a cold chisel.

Expansion and contraction of the fence due to heat and cold are cared for by the tension curves or "kinks" in the woven-wire fencing, and no fear may be felt in drawing the fastening wires as tight as necessary. Wooden nailing strips should never be embedded in the posts, for moisture will swell the wood and crack the concrete.

DON'T GIVE UP WHEAT CROP

Some Farmers Discouraged Because of Lateness in Getting Threshing Done—Disk Is Handy Tool.

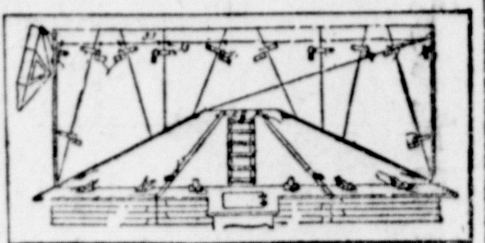

In all probability some who planned to sow wheat this fall are about to give it up owing to the lateness of the season in getting the threshing done. To be sure, it is better to plow early for wheat if you can, but if you cannot, then do the next best thing—plow as soon as possible. It would help in getting a good seedbed to double-disk the ground before plowing, then plow five or six inches deep and follow with disk and corrugated crusher alternately several times. The most fields now have quite a crop of weeds and grass which will tend to make air spaces in the seedbed. Wheat will not hold well through the winter in a seedbed that contains air spaces. Most people do not think of a disk as in any way connecting with compacting the ground, but it is more effective in filling in air spaces than any other tool.

What about your seed wheat? Is it good? If it isn't, better sell it and buy of someone who threshed early and has good seed. The difference in price would be well spent.

ADJUSTABLE ROOF FOR SILO

Practical Method for Overcoming Trouble Caused by Silage Settling—Snow and Rain Kept Out.

Silos always settle several feet, and unless refilled a few days after the first filling will be only about three-fourths full when ready to be fed from. To overcome this trouble silo roofs, tops and covers have been devised to allow the filling several feet above the top, so that when settling is all over the silo will be nearly full. The roof shown here is adjustable, being the recent patent of a Galesburg, Ill., inventor. The roof opens out to extend the silo upward perpendicularly when being filled. After settling, this roof can be folded up to make a closed top that sheds rain and keeps out snow. Independently elevatable sections, one of them having a cap attached, are locked together.

Easy Way To Make Hair Attractive

Ladies May Add to their Appearance with Little Trouble.

Ladies who find trouble in properly or attractively arranging and dressing their hair should try using a little Parisian Sage twice daily for a while and note the remarkable improvement. Parisian Sage, which can be obtained from The People's Drug Store or any drug counter, makes the hair soft, lustrous, fluffy and wavy, takes out the dull lifeless appearance, dissolves the dandruff and stimulates the hair roots into healthy normal action. Instead of merely sprinkling the hair, it should be rubbed right into the scalp with the finger tips. Parisian Sage is a delightful treatment for both hair and scalp, cannot possibly injure the hair and is very inexpensive.

A Louisville journalist was excessively proud of his little boy. Turning to the old black nurse, "Auntie," said he, stroking the little pate, "this boy seems to have a journalistic head." "Oh," cried the untutored old auntie, soothingly, "never you mind bout dat; dat'll come right in time."

HINTS FOR THE LOSY HOUSEWIFE

Handy Device For Polishing Table Cutlery.

Ordinary washing will clean the surfaces of table ware, but to get the polish required by neat housekeepers is necessary. An implement for this purpose has recently been patented by a Philadelphia inventor and is herewith illustrated.

The rubbing surfaces are of a prepared material which are suited for the purpose and are made in such shape that it is possible to reach every part of the cutlery with them so that every corner and crevice will receive the desired treatment.

Fried Chicken.

Clean carefully, draw and disjoint the fowl. Season well and roll each piece in flour. Brown in hot fat in an iron frying pan. Use part lard and part butter for the fat and have very hot, so the pieces will brown quickly. When nicely browned cover and heat very hot, then add a cupful of boiling water, cover closely and put in a moderate oven where it will simmer for an hour. When ready to serve remove chicken and make gravy from liquor. Chicken fried in this way is far superior to the ordinary fried chicken which is often dry, hard and tasteless or not half cooked. Add a cupful of rich milk for variety in place of the cupful of boiling water.

Steamed Pudding.

Into a small pan put a teaspoonful of good molasses, one of milk, one of chopped suet, one of seedless raisins and a teaspoonful of salt. Beat into this three teaspoonfuls of flour sifted with half a teaspoonful of soda and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Season with cinnamon or nutmeg and steam two hours.

Sauce For Pudding.—To a quart of boiling water add a tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful of sugar; thicken the mixture with a tablespoonful of cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Flavor with vanilla.

Optimistic Thought.

BREAK UP BRONCHIAL COUGHS, CROUP AND COLDS PROMPTLY

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 teaspoonfuls for 50 Cents.

Don't neglect your first cold, cough or any Bronchial affection, this fall, but commence treatment immediately, and through using the proper medicine, it can be checked from the very start and promptly cured, but if neglected probably will hang on all winter; if it does not develop into something more serious, such as Pneumonia or Consumption. True, there are hundreds, yes thousands of cough remedies on the market. While some are good, there are many which are not, but are positively harmful, due to the narcotics which they contain. But why experiment with these different remedies purely on the strength perhaps of some testimonials or on the exaggerated claims of manufacturers, when Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant is sold by The People's Drug Store on such a positive guarantee to give perfect satisfaction, yes even more—money will be refunded by them if it is not found the best remedy ever used in Severe Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough or Croup, and it will also be found excellent for Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. Besides these druggists guaranteeing that it will be the best remedy ever used, it will likewise be found the most economical, because one bottle (50 cents' worth) makes a full pint (128 teaspoonfuls) of the most excellent medicine for any of the above affections, when mixed at home with one pint of granulated sugar and half pint of water. It makes as much, or more, than would cost you $2.00 to $3.00 of almost any of the ordinary ready-made kinds, sold in bottles holding only 24 to 32 teaspoonfuls. You will be the sole judge yourself, and under the same positively "Money Back" guarantee which the druggists make for the famous Asthmador. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

On Advertise It In America.

As a citizen of this nation and one intensely interested in its material development, I want to add my approval to the "Buy It In America" movement. Commercial patriotism and business pride are the foundation stones of success in industry and no country can become supreme in commerce and trade without it fosters a spirit of friendship and partiality for its own products and institutions. It is the spirit of the hive that makes the wheels of industry turn and each community should be a progressive unit in our industrial universe. All things being equal the farmer should patronize the local merchant who is always a good citizen, a heavy taxpayer and friend of the farmer. The farmer sends shiploads of raw material to foreign markets and factories that meet on their way vessels laden with finished and foreign grown products coming to America. Any effort to minimize this economic waste ought to be encouraged.

But as a farmer and friend of the manufacturer and merchant I want to suggest an "Advertise It In America" movement. The manufacturer and jobber may blow loud blasts on the horn of patriotism but if they will put an "ad" in the newspapers in their trade territory, making a business presentation of their goods, they will find it far more effective than waving the Star-Spangled Banner. The farmer is as much interested in the price of the things he has to buy as in the price of the things he has for sale and the advertising columns of his newspaper are his price list. The price is the thing and the farmer wants the figures in cold type. The politicians give him all the patriotic buncombe he cares for. Business enterprise is a far more successful salesman than business patriotism.

There are many most worthy organizations working to promote commerce and trade but we seldom find organized effort to promote the press, yet it is recognized as the most powerful agency for progress the world has ever produced. We have all sorts of days calculated to promote business and honor industry such as Trades Days, Bargain Days, Labor Day, etc., and why not have a press day and all business concerns advertise the things they have to sell and everybody subscribe for the local paper and all delinquents pay a year in advance. There is nothing so elevating in civilization as the smile of an editor and nothing will contribute more toward the welfare of a community than the prosperity of the press.

The farmer is a friend and patron of the newspapers. He subscribes for the local paper and reads every line in it and it is the best investment he can make. There is no news so valuable as store news; no information so interesting as market demands and no tragedy so entertaining as the rise and fall of prices and no page more closely studied by the farmers than the advertising columns of the press.

BRITISH SEARCH U. S. SHIP

Forcibly Board Zealandia at Progreso, Mexico.

VIOLATION OF NEUTRALITY

Berlin Reports Steamer Was Trying to Escape and Was Then Attacked by U-Boat.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The American steamship Zealandia was forcibly searched by a party from a British cruiser last week, while lying in the port of Progreso, Mexico.

The American consul there reports the cruiser is now lying outside, supposedly waiting to seize the ship.

On the face of such a report as the consul sent, even though incomplete, the official conclusion here is that the British naval authorities not only violated Mexican neutrality, but far exceeded their rights in forcibly searching an American ship in a neutral port.

The Zealandia figured recently in reports of the investigations by British agents who were seeking ships supposed to be fitting out in the United States for attacking oil carrying vessels from Mexican fields, where the British navy draws a great proportion of its supply of fuel oil.

The Zealandia originally was a Hawaiian ship, which came under the American flag at the time of the annexation. On October 7, she mysteriously left Pensacola at night, clearing for Tampico, carrying a large stock of provisions, and manned principally by a crew of Germans. An American flag, painted on her hull, had been painted over, and it was reported that while at sea she flew the German colors, although this was denied by her owners.

The ship went from Tampico to Campeche, where British agents found her and reported she bore a large quantity of rosin, for which there was no ostensible use in Mexico, although it is used largely in making shrapnel. They also reported their suspicions that she bore a large quantity of copper. The British view was that she was awaiting an opportunity to slip out with the cargo for some port where it would find its way to Great Britain's enemies.

Nothing further of her movements was reported until the American consul's report. What the searchers found on her the consul did not say. The forcible searching of an American ship in a neutral port might constitute one of the most serious issues that could arise between the United States and Great Britain in the controversy over the British navy's conduct toward American shipping. A thorough investigation will be made.

78,376 NEW GERMAN LOSSES

List Includes Casualties Suffered
From October 10 to November 2.

Rottterdam, Nov. 11.—German losses from October 10 to November 2, in dead, wounded and missing, were 78,376, according to figures published by the Courant, which presumes these casualties relate to the Champagne.

"The total Prussian losses to date," the paper says, "have been 2,099,454, not including 230 Bavarian, 293 Wurttemberg, 280 Saxon and fifty navy lists and the lists of officers and non-commissioned officers who have been lost while fighting with the Turks."

$400,000 FIRE IN BALDWIN PLANT

Patterns Are Destroyed in the Eddystone Plant.

Chester, Pa., Nov. 11.—Various reports are current concerning the fire at the Eddystone plant of the Baldwin locomotive works, in which property and patterns worth $400,000 was destroyed.

Reports that the patterns destroyed were those of iron parts in connection with engines recently built for the Russian government are current, while other reports assign the destroyed patterns to a number of special type locomotives of immense design which were recently erected.

Fire was discovered in the No. 1 lot and the fire department at the works was called out, but it was quickly seen that it would be unable to cope with the situation and Chester was appealed to for assistance. The Handy Hose company was ordered out and immediately went into service, and within two hours the flames were under control.

The property destroyed is the larger part of No. 1 pattern lot and a large portion of one end of No. 2 lot.

No statement could be secured from any of the officials of the company and employees at the plant are likewise reticent.

Nothing was developed to lead to a suspicion that the fire was of incendiary origin.

BRITISH SINK TWO U-BOATS

German Submarines Reported Destroyed in Straits of Gibraltar.

London, Nov. 11.—Telegrams from Algiers, Morocco, by way of Madrid, report that a British cruiser has sunk two German submarines in the Straits of Gibraltar.

An official statement given out said:

"The British torpedo boat destroyer, Lieutenant-Commander Harold D. A. Hall, has been stranded in the eastern Mediterranean and has become a total wreck. All the officers and crew are safe."

"The British steamship Clan MacAllister has been sunk. (The MacAllister, 4825 tons gross, was owned in Glasgow. She was built in 1902, and was last reported at London, September 13.)

The steamship Irene, employed by the Trinity House corporation in connection with lighthouse and pilotage work, also has been sunk. Thirty-five of the crew are missing.

It also was announced that the British steamships Californian and Moorina have been sunk by submarines. It is believed they were sunk in the Mediterranean.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

LATE PICKLES.

COMBINATION PICKLE.—This is easily and quickly made, no cooking being required. Use three quarts of ripe tomatoes, pared and chopped fine, one-half pint of grated horseradish, one pint of celery chopped fine, one-half cupful of chopped onion, eight tablespoonfuls of mustard seed, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, eight of salt, one tablespoonful of ground cinnamon, a level teaspoonful each of clove and mace and a quart of vinegar. Mix all these ingredients thoroughly and then pack the pickle in a stone jar. It will be ready for use in a few days and will keep for months in a cool place.

Cucumber Ketchup.—Peel ripe tomatoes, crush and pass through a sieve to free them of the seeds. To each three pints of pulp so obtained add two ounces of salt, one-half ounce of white pepper and one pint of vinegar. Macerate for two weeks, stir occasionally and strain.

Mushroom Ketchup.—Two gallons of mushrooms, juice, two ounces of pimento, one ounce of cloves, one ounce of mustard seed, one ounce of ginger, one pound of salt, two ounces of shallots. Bruise all the spices, gently simmer them for one hour with the juice in a covered vessel and when cold strain and bottle the liquor.

Walnut Ketchup.—One gallon of juice from young English walnuts, two pounds of anchovies, one pound of shallots, one ounce of powdered cloves, one ounce of mace and one ounce of garlic. Boil the juice for about ten minutes, and then strain it. Add the anchovies, shallots, spices and the garlic. Simmer in a covered vessel for about fifteen minutes, straining and when cold pour into bottle, adding to each bottle a little fresh spice and salt, according to taste.

Fruit Chutney.—Peel and remove seeds from one dozen oranges, cut into slices and put into a granite kettle with two pounds of peeled chopped apples, one onion finely minced, one ounce of mustard, one-half ounce of grated ginger, two pounds of red pepper, four ounces of salt, one pound of sugar, sugar and the juice of six lemons. Mix all well together, put on the fire, let boil to a pulp, remove and rub through a coarse sieve. Cook for twenty minutes and then bottle. This will keep for two years if tightly corked.

Apple Puff.

Cook half a cupful of flour in one pint of milk in a double boiler for fifteen minutes. Add a half cupful of sugar and from one to three eggs and flavor as liked. Have small whole apples pared and cored and arranged in a dish. Pour the batter over them and bake three-quarters of an hour or till the apples are tender. If the apples are very hard they may first be partly stewed.—Country Gentleman.

Pumpkin Pie.

To a teaspoonful of sifted pumpkin add half a teaspoonful of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of maple or any good molasses, a pinch of salt, heaping tablespoonful of cornstarch, a teaspoonful of ginger and a teaspoonful of rich milk. Pour the beaten mixture into a large pie tin lined with pie crust, dust cinnamon over the top and dot with bits of butter. Bake in a slow oven, increase heat and brown lightly at the last.

Creamed Chicken.

Cook a good fat hen till the flesh falls from the bones. Pick the meat into small bits, but do not chop or grind it. Butter a baking pan and roll crisp soda crackers quite fine. THE APRON DRESS FOR STYLE AND SERVICE.

The sleeves are in raglan effect, being cut in one piece.

The sleeves are inserted to the front and back, as the first step in the making of the apron. The front seam of left sleeve should be left free above the notch. Next, close under-arm and sleeve seams, leaving sleeve seam free below single large "O" perforations. Gather lower edge of sleeve, sew sleeve band to gathered edge as notched, fold on line of large "O" perforations and fell remaining edge over seam. Turn hem at lower edge, regulating the width according to the height of the wearer. Insert the left shoulder edge of right front under the left sleeve to small "O" perforations when closing.

For the pocket, find large "O" perforations as a guide to the front. Hem the upper edge and adjust to position on front, the upper edge of pocket along crossline of three small "O" perforations.

Adjust belt to position, center-backs even and upper edge of belt along crossline of double "O" perforations.

The skirt goes must now be joined as notched, leaving left side seam free above large "O" perforation in front gore for pocket. Stitch a casing one inch wide when finished to position underneath upper edge of skirt, insert a drawstring.

For the cap, gather the lower front edge between double "O" perforations. Sew band to gathered edge as notched, center-fronts even. Face lap and sew to band, notches and center-fronts even; turn lap back and tack the side edge to position. Stitch a bias casing one inch wide when finished, underneath lower edge of crown from the band to center-back, insert elastic and draw in to the required size.

A bit of embroidery may be added to the cap band, as this trimming is used on everything this season.

Pictorial Review Pattern No. 6471. Sizes 32, 36, 40, 44 and 48 inches bust. Price, 15 cents.

Do You Feel Headachy

Look To Your Stomach

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. Yet this is the way The Peoples' Drug Store, the popular druggist, is selling Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy.

Never before have they had so large a number of customers tell them that a medicine has been successful as with Mi-o-na. People who a few months ago looked like walking skeletons have put on flesh and today are ruddy and vigorous with perfect digestion and good health.

There is no longer any need for anyone suffering or making their friends suffer on account of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na can always be relied upon. The percentage of cures is so great that there is little risk to The Peoples' Drug Store in guaranteeing to return the money if the medicine does not relieve. And they stand ready to do so without any questions.

Headaches, all forms of indigestion, specks before the eyes, dizzy feelings, and all forms of liver trouble are helped by Mi-o-na. A few days' treatment should show considerable gain in health while a complete cure often follows rapidly.

First Dose Ends Indigestion, Heart-burn, or Gas on Stomach.

People with weak stomachs should take Tonaline Tablets occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, sour risings, gas on stomach, or belching of undigested food, headaches, dizziness or sick stomach; and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking Tonaline Tablets.

Go to your druggist and get a box of Tonaline Tablets and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. Tonaline tablets freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness this remarkable treatment may prove a revelation. It is a beauty maker as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener.

Tonaline Tablets cost $1.00 for a 15 days' treatment. At druggists or mailed by American Proprietary Co., Boston, Mass.

THEY REFUSE TO EAT

At periods in most children's lives they fail to relish their meals and refuse to eat even the delicacies prepared to tempt their appetites. They lack ambition, and growth seems impeded, which causes anxiety and worry.

To compel them to eat is a grave mistake, because nutrition is impaired. Healthful exercise in fresh air and sunshine is important, but equally important is a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion three times a day to feed the tissues and furnish food-energy to improve their blood, aid nutrition and sharpen their appetites.

The highly concentrated medicinal food in Scott's Emulsion supplies the very elements children need to build up their strength. They relish Scott's--it is free from alcohol.

LUCK BRINGS LUCK

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

There is a case which is always on call on the calendar, a warfare going on every week and day and hour in the year. It is the case of detective versus criminal. It is the warfare between hide and seek.

During the year that I was in the profession I had some queer cases. I had the reputation of being lucky, and I am ready to admit that luck has a great deal to do with successful detective work. I have known officers who were honest, conscientious and painstaking, but who always just missed it. If they had been on a case for six months and had finally run a man down until he was within arm's length some one else was sure to step in and bag the game at the last moment. It is an old saying that "luck brings luck." It was certainly true in my case. My first capture was that of Dick Morton, the famous Tennessee outlaw of thirty years ago. I was in Nashville when he shot and robbed two men on a highway forty miles distant. I was then on the Cincinnati force and was interested in getting a close description of the man. Any description you may give of a particular man will apply to dozens in a general way. Dick was six feet high, with brown hair, blue eyes, sandy whiskers, etc. The only real point was in his manner of speech. It was said that he always rolled his eyes upward when beginning a sentence. He did this on the advice of an old woman to break him of the habit of stuttering, and it was a success.

Just a week after I left Nashville I was in Evansville, Ind. As I sat in the office of a hotel a man came in and registered, and when he answered the inquiry of the landlord went his eyes. When I had seen him do this three or four times I began to compare him point for point with my description of Dick Morton, and in five minutes I was satisfied that I had my man. He had been shaved, had his hair cut and wore a suit of black, but there were some things he could not hide. The little finger of his left hand was off to the joint, he held his head cocked to one side when listening to you, and his right foot toed in as he walked. I made no move until after dinner. Then as he came out of the dining room I held him up with the muzzle of a revolver right against his breast, and the landlord put the handcuffs on him. Then I called the local officers and turned him over. He had two pistols and a knife on him, and his wallet contained over $2,000.

In the fall of the next year a paymaster suddenly stepped out of sight with $175,000 in new, crisp greenbacks. He was a government man and was in Cairo when he received the money. He put it in a satchel and lost himself between 6 o'clock in the evening and sunrise next morning. He had been gone three days when I reached Cairo. He was described to me as a tall, slim light complexioned man with side whiskers, blue eyes and auburn hair. There was nothing peculiar about him except the habit of rubbing the back of his left hand with the palm of his right when speaking. This was a very slight clue to work on, but it was all I had. I searched for four days around and outside of Cairo, but couldn't strike his trail.

I could hear nothing of the paymaster and was about to return to Cairo to take up a new line of pursuit when a stranger approached me with a proposition. He was a farmer, and perhaps some one had pointed me out as a capitalist or speculator. He had a lot of black walnut timber which he wanted to get to market, but needed money as a starter. He offered, in case I would advance $800, to give me a certain share in the venture, and as I thought well of it I drove out to his place, a distance of twelve miles. We reached there at night and next morning walked through the timber. At about 10 o'clock we came to the farm, which backed against his, and as we were both thirsty we walked to the well for a drink. While there a woman, with whom my friend was well acquainted, came out, and we all sat down on the side of the porch for a chat. After two or three minutes a man came out, and she introduced him as her nephew from Ohio. He was roughly dressed, but any one could see that he was in disguise. He had shaved clean, the sun had burned his face and neck, and his hands were not very clean, and he explained that he had served a year in the army, but was discharged for disability and had gone west to rough it for a few weeks. We somehow got to talking about some of the battles on the lower Mississippi, and as my farmer friend and the stranger did not exactly agree the discussion soon waxed hot. Then, to my great amazement, the stranger began to rub the back of his left hand with his right. I then compared him with the description, and, allowing for the changes he had made, I saw that he must be my very man. I quietly addressed him by name, told him who I was and what I had come for, and what do you suppose he did? He just fell right off his chair in a regular faint, and we worked over him a quarter of an hour before he opened his eyes. He had been planning his embezzlement for weeks. He was really the woman's nephew, but she did not know that he was a paymaster. He had the money in a satchel in his room and had used only about $20 of it. His plan was to be in hiding for several months and then skip to Europe.

Personal Influence Counts.

The only responsibility that a man cannot evade in this life is the one he thinks of least--his personal influence.--Jordan
